Strange to say, during all this time the insurrection has been gaining strength and spreading further and wider. By telegram from Havana which we publish today in another column it will be seen that the capture of Mayari, recently reported on offidefeat of the Spanish troops, and that they were falling back on Santiago with their wounded commander. From Villa Clara, too where we have been so repeatedly informed of the defeat of the insurgents, we now learn from a returned Spanish volunteer that Colonel La Torre was defeated on the 3d inst. and that the insurrection there was so strong that ten thousand men would be required to open the railroad to the coast. In connection with this fact we have the singular gen eral order from Colonel Lasca, who had re cently got into Puerto Principe, that all the ford aid and comfort to their friends in the field must return to that besieged and hungry

The most important news received is that the insurgent authorities in the Central De-partment have decreed the abolition of sla-very. The freed negroes may either enter the patriot army or remain to cultivate the Church forbidding priests to marry before the soil. Doubtless many will take up arms; but approaching (Ecomonical Council)" is any case this act of the insurgents will strengthen their cause. It is a wise meafor, whatever might happen, slavery somed, and it will have the effect of rallying public opinion in the United States in tavor of Cuban independence. But the best effect will be seen, undoubtedly, upon the negroes themselves. Their worst masters have been the Spaulards, and the negroes will remember that. They will join those who have given them freedom. Besides.

They must be aware that the Spaniards are foreigners, who, like leeches, fatten upon their industry and the wealth of the island—who have, in fact, no abiding in-terest in them or their country. It is proba-ble we may soon hear of the negroes becoming an important element in this war for in-Under these circumstances what should be the policy of our government with regard to Cuba? No people in the world struggling for independence from despotism have ever failed to meet with sympathy from this country. The Hungarians, the Poles, the Italians and all others have met with it. This country represents the liberal and republican ideas of the age and world, and all nations regard it as the hope of the oppressed everywhere. But Cuba has special claims upon us. The Cubans are our neighbors, are Americans, and belong to the American system. The ial governments of Europe are exotics on this Continent, and ought to be uprooted The policy which favored and recognized the independence of the former colonies of Spain in America, and which laid down the Mouroe doctrine of no more European conquests or colonization, now requires a fresh and extended application. The remaining European possession on this Continent have always been a source of trouble to all, and have cramped our trade and made us second only where we ought to have been first in commercial intercourse. We owe nothing to Spain nor Ito any of the European Powers. In the Mexican affair and during our civil war Spain and some of the other Powers were hostile to this republic and hoped to see it destroyed. They claimed to have monarch cal interests in America, and, acting upon that claim, they acted to our great detriment

Our interest lies in the severance of all given, and the government should lose no time in authorizing the President to recogudgment it may be proper to do so, and, as soon as a regular government is established, their independence. Such a course is demanded by sound policy and the highest statesmanship. With Cuba independent or anced by nature and long training, so health. annexed to the United States the productive wealth and our trade with that island would be immense. Then we ought to save that beautiful and rich country from the horrors and devastation which now threaten it. permit the scenes and fate of another St. Domingo on our border would be an eternal lisgrace to the United States. In every point view, then-on high political grounds, for interest of our commerce, and for the sake of humanity, the government and people of this republic should favor by every means the independence of Cuba, and we are glad to learn that by the arrival of an ambassador preliminary from the Cuban provisional government the objects above expressed are likely to be realized.

At the lunatic asylum in Bicetre, France, there died, a few days ago, a man whose life was a long, long romance. His name was Julien Marne, Descended from a wealthy family of Saint-Onge, which had emigrated from France at the beginning of the Revolution of 1789, he received an excellent education and entered the service of Russia. ## Married Priests.

Our foreign exchanges speak of the last sensation in religious circles on the continent: 'The Court of Appeal at Naples. Italy, rendered a decision last month on the important nestion of the legal validity of a priest's marriage. The civil tribunal of Salerno, in June 1868, had decided that a priest was always a priest, before whatever court he presented himself, and was bound by the obligation he had assumed in that character. The Court of Appeal cancels that sentence, and orders the ceremony, which had been inter rupted to be proceeded with according to law. Four Courts of Appeal have now decided the legality of the marriage of priests-those of whereas in the three first named tribunals such marriages were rather tolerated, hav- Herald. ing been already completed, in that of Na ples the principle was established before the marriages were solemnized. Another feature, too, in all such cases of matrimony hit herto is that the parties (though a priest is always a priest) had in most cases abjured their religion, and certainly had previously ceased to exercise the functions of their office. In the present case it is a priest in full connection with his church who has obtained a favorable decision; and now with the sanction of the civil law of Italy, a man in the distinctive robes of a priest may take his wife under his arm and parade the esplade of Salermo or the streets of Naples. The action of these courts has created great excitement in Italy, and there is talk of bringing the question of repealing the law of the BISMARCK's nephew, who, a few weeks ago married the daughter of a Stargard pastrycook, it is well known, received the heartiest congratulations of his illustrious uncle on his wedding day. The Prussian Premier acted very sensibly in not manifesting any displeasure at this so-called mesalliance. The nephew acted very sensibly, too; for he has got nothing but his wits and his title of nobility, while his young wife is pretty and accomplished, and has a dower of one hundred thousand dollars.

BRIGHAM YOUNG lately lectured the ladies of Mormondom on education and among other remarks, made these pertinent ones: "See, in the fashionable world, the education given to a young lady! It consists mainly of how to bow and curtsey, how to meet a gentleman, how to be graceful in a ball-room, how to get into and out of a carriage, how to walk on the streets, how high clothes should be lifted, or how many feet they should drag behind her; and, in addition to this, to thrum on the piano and have a smattering of French or Italian These are what should be called female loafers they are no good to themselves or any body else. March 22, 1869.

My Dear Sir:—I wish you would publish the proceedings in the House relative to my case and especially the able and generous remarks of Mr. Bingham, so that he may receive full credit for the statesmanship, which he always manifests. In the present bitterness of political parties it will do great good if our people should have an opportunity of properly appreciating the leading Republicans in Congress. The reflex of opinion from our side, showing that we notice such acts of generosity and returning friendship between the sections, will do far more good than all the sophistries which are employed to keep ap sectional prejudice. When such leaders as the Speaker, Bingham, Blair, Butler, Cook, Davis, Dawes, Dixon, Farnsworth, Jenckes, Ingersoll, Peters, Poland, Schenck, etc., combine to relieve a rebel, the time can not be far distant when all our people will have justice and fair play. Forty-two Radicals supported me and though the others fought me tremendously, extending the struggle through two days in the hope of driving some of my friends off, not one deserted me. Many of those who opposed me were new members, who had not yet been long enough in the BLANTON DENCAN.

After entering into the conspiracy to depose President JOHNSON on the shallow pretense that he had violated the Temureof-office-act by the removal of Secretary STANTON, and the appointment of Lonen-ZO THOMAS ad interim, Gen. GRANT finds the aforesaid act extremely inconvenient in his own case, and is urgent in asking its repeal. With the aid of the Democrats, who have been opposed to the act from the beginning on the ground of its unconstitutionality and bad policy, a bill for its repeal was passed by the House of Representatives. The Senate was not so willing to surrender the power given to it by the objectionable act, and it was with difficulty that an act was passed by that body suspending the operation of the statute during the administration of Gen. GRANT instead of repealing it. On Friday the question was before the House whether it should accept the Senate substitute or adhere to its own bill of unconditional repeal. BUTLER and LOGAN had had a conference with the President and learned from that functionary that the Senate substitute was not satisfactory to him, and that he had accepted merely to prevent a repture between himself and the Senate. Thus backed these two gentlemen determined to op pose the Senate substitute and insist upon the unconditional repeal of the Tenure-ofoffice act. The Democrats were for the repeal as a matter of principle, whether GRANT wanted it or not, and accordingly taken with paralysis in his right side. four year old time ever recorded in the annals of racing.

Ericsson is a half brother to Lady Thorn, Mambrino Pilot, Brignoli, Kentucky Chief and Idol, and cousin to Dexter and George Wilkes, the most renowned trotters now upon the turf. He is the sire of Lumber, Eagle Eye, Mambrino Maid. St. Albans, William Eric. Gay Eric, and others of great promise.

Ericsson was inbred to imported Messenger, that grand progeniter of the great trotting family of America, the best in the world. They have illustrated their worth in enduring records upon the tablets of the race course. They have enriched their owners in the past, and will contribute to the wealth of the public in the future, as the sires and dams of an illustrious progeny of worthy descendants. Hereditary law is a history of the past, and a guide to the future. What will take place, is a legitimate consequence of what has taken place. Ericeson therefore stands engaged to produce colts that can trot in 2.39%. Breeders have now the fare opportunity of breeding from the greatest four-year old winner upon the American turf, and from a breed that have produced the acknowledged champions of the world. The ground is to be put in watermelons, for the successful growing of which that neighborhood (Wilson's bottom) is already famous.

Sale .- The farm of Miss Mary M. Marshall, on Mill Creak, in this county, has been sold to M. and P. Walton for $100 per acre, 77 acres in the tract. This land was very fine, about two miles from Maysville, near the Maysville and Mt. Sterling Turnpike. The improvements were very indifferent.

Retained .- We are glad to learn that J. Moreau Stockton will not be removed from his position as postmaster in this city. Thursday's dispatches from Washington announce his re-appointment. Mr. Stockton has made a most excellent and efficient offientire satisfaction.

Moses Givens, who was shot by John J. Key on the 13th inst., died at his residence on Sunday, and was buried on yesterday. Mr. Givens was a native of Lewis county; and a brother of the late Joshna Givens, Esq., of that county. He was about seventy years of The Oldest Inhabitant .- The patrirch of a the village, "Uncle Luke Dye," as he was familiarly called, died in Sardis on Monday, 22d inst., in the 79th year of his age. He was the vidage wit, the friend of everybody, and everybody was his friend. He was the founder of the village. He was a soldier of the war of 1812. At this point Hard .- According to a law passed by Congress some eighteen months since, all whisky made previous to July 20th, 1868 must be withdrawn from bond and the tax on it paid by the 20th of next month. The amount of Secretary. whisky thus affected in the Lexington district is estimated at 939,000 gallons, the tax on which, at 60 cts per gallon, will be $263,400-Congress is being pressed to extend the time, as the distillers will suffer great inconvenience, and many perhaps, ruin, if the law should be enforced as it now stands. Moreover, the banks are not prepared to afford the necessary relief, and a serious stringency in money matters will be the result of such a heavy run on them.

Public Sale of Fine Stock .- Mr. Geo. W. Wells, of this county, through Maj. Peed, auctioneer, made the following sales of stock on Thursday, March 25th: Forty-six head of two-year old mules at $115 per head; 7 pairs of mules, matched two year olds, at prices ranging from $285 to $320 per pair; 1 saddle mare, $70; 1 buggy mare, $122; 1 horse, 97; cow add calf, $78; one cow and calf, 65; 1 male Berkshire shoat, $12; 1 Berkshire sow, six months old, $18.50. W. C. WILLIAMS, Chairman B. R. Com.

LANCASTER, OHIO, March 8, 1869. W. C. Williams, Esq., Chairman Railroad Committee, Chillicothe, Ohio-Dear Sir :-I see by your papers that the people of Chillicothe and Ross county are interesting themelves in railroad matters, and are desirons of obtaining better facilities for transportation and travel than they now have. For the ac complishment of this important project they are looking to a line in the Scioto Valley from Portsmouth to Columbus, which is a for several mouths. Says he made pretty very good one, so far as Chillicothe is concerned. But would it not be merely a local road? Could it command through traffic and dreary spectacle of ragged walls and chimtravel? Would the products of the valley support it? In short, would it be a paying oad? Will it not be for the interest of Chillicothe to look for a line that, accomplishing all that is claimed for this one, could command something beyond the Scioto Valley? Such a road can be had by the way of Lancaster and Newark, which gives you twelve miles less distance to Pittsburg than by the way of Columbus, and necessitates the building of but thirty-three miles of road to seenre a Columbus connection. The people of Fairfield and Licking counties have already secured a certificate of Incorporation from Friday, en route for the South. Lancaster to Newark, and have a large subscription on their books which will be greatly ncreased, for they are alive to the interests of the proposed road and are ready and willing to co-operate with you in the extension of late N. O. papers.

The citizens of Bainbridge are also anxious a car load of mules and sold them out in one for a railroad communication with the out day. He immediately telegraphed for an receiving an affirmative answer, fired five may be now considered safe so far as the win- side world and are talking of building a other car load, which were shipped yesterday ter weather is concerned. From Knoxville, you have a direct line to Charlestown, South Corolina; also through Chattanooga, Tuscaloosa Alabama Vicksburg, Mississippi, Shreveport, La. into Texas, con necting with the Southern Pacific line. Examination of a correct map of the United States demonstrates this to be the most direct available line from the eastern sea-board to the South West that can be constructed.

The only missing link in this continuous hain of railway is from Maysville to Newark. A determination shown by the people along the line to perfect this great thoroughfare, by furnishing the right-of-way and road-bed ay make it for the interest of connecting roads to assist the enterprise, by putting on the iron and rolling stock. By uniting the funds of Adams and Ross with Fairfield and Licking counties, a road can be built which, se curing to each all local interest, will combine for greater advantages to all, and be of vast importance to the country. With these important considerations in view, is it not for the interests of Chil icothe and Ross County flamatory rheumatism and asthma, which to apply her capital on this line rather than done. STATE NEWS.

FATHER LANCASTER-We regret to learn that this most agreeable gentleman and faithful servant who has been acting as provisional Bishop since the death of the lamented at his residence, in Covington, and that but his recovery. This will be sad news, indeed, to those who are acquainted with Father Lancaster, and especially by a numerous circle of friends, both religious and social, in Frankfort, where he lived for so many years, honored and loved by all classes. While cherishing a profound veneration and love for his own church, he was free from all bigotry, and was tolerant and charitable towards members of all denominations and preserved a most amiable social intercourse with them. We knew Father Lancaster as a well read and most agreeable gentleman, who was enough of the man of the world to lay aside the austerities of his office in his intercourse with society, and to become a most fascinating companion. Few clergymen of any denomination would be more sincerely regretted, if he is taken away, as we are led to believe that he will be. His life has passed from assidu ous performance of the humble duties of priest, for he was free from all worldly ambition, else his talents, piety, and influence might have secured him promotion to almost any position in his church. In losing Father Lancaster, the Catholic Church of America loses one of its brightest ornaments, and many who have had no sympathy with his religious connections, will greatly lament his Hogs Stolen .- Mr. Billy Clark, living three miles from town on the Bryan's Station pike, had seven fine hogs stolen from him on Wednesday night last. These sort of depredations are getting to be intolerable, and we learn that farmers are determined to put a stop to t, even if they have to take the law into their own hands. There is some talk of organizing Ku-Klux that shall strike terror into evil doers, for it seems impossible to reach this class of offenders by any ordinary process of the law. It is believed that negroes are the perpetrators of these rascalities, and the honest and well disposed ought to ferret out the thieves and bring them to justice to protect their race from suspicion. If the Ku-Klux take the matter in hand, some innocent persons may suffer, although we have never heard of a person above all suspecion, being interfered with by them .- Ibid.

ANOTHER SHOOTING AFFAIR.-A spirited in this place on Tuesday last, between Clifton Davis and Cyrus Baxter on one side, and C. C. Gooch on the other. A number of shots were exchanged on both sides. Davis received a shot in his left leg below the knee, break- of pleurisy in early life. ing and shattering the bone. Gooch was shot through the thigh. At the time the shooting took place, a large crowd was standng at Yantis' corner, who scattered pell-mell, taking refuge in the various stores.

A stray ball passed through the large glass Shackleford & Hume's store door, which did no further damage than breaking the glass. Another passed through the window of Jacobs' clothing store.

We are informed that a difficulty occurred etween Davis and Gooch at Doylesville on Sunday last, which not being settled at the ime caused the collision.

The Blairs-The Old Man on Frank's Removal.

Mack " to Cin. Enquirer

I met "old man Blair," as they call him (the father of General Blair), to-day, and in the course of a short conversation the subject of Grant's removal of Frank from the petty office of Pacific Railroad Commissioner was alluded to. Mr. Blair seemed to be deeply hurt, not because of the removal, but of the manner in which it was done. He said be had taken pains to inform Grant, very soon after his inauguration, that Frank did not intend to embarrass him by holding the office but would resign it within a month. There was some particular reason why he wished to remain even that long; but Grant was also told that if he wished to appoint somebody the chairman of which the following letter is trade dull. Yet others are shipping in small else immediately, Frank would resign forth with rather than be formally removed. This request from an old gentleman who has been and Fairfield county to the citizens of Chilli- Friday direct from South Carolina, where he respected by every President from the days of Jackson, in behalf of his son, who was one pretty much all over the State, and sold 60 of the bravest Federal officers from the Northwest, so far from accomplishing the desired result precipitated what it was intended to avoid. Up to this time Grant did not know that Frank Blair held any office under the Government, nor that there was any such of fice as Pacific Railroad Commissioner. He immediately ordered Blair's removal and the appointment of Mr. Isaac N. Morris, of Illinois, in his stead. And, as I said in a for mer letter, on the very same day that he re moved Blair from one office he appointed Angusta, we have been told, has sold over Longstreet to another and a much better

Now I should like somebody who is versed in history to match the above as an instance of petty malignity on the part of a man occupying so high a place as that of President. The act, trifling as it may appear, shows one and pride of the State, still presents the of the strongest characteristics of Grant, and is a true index from which to judge the man and the President. He is by odds the smallest specimen of the genus home that ever emer ged from the industrious obscurity of a tanyard into the blazing meridian of statesmanship. I knew him in the army from 1861 to 1864, and could relate a hundred instances in strict accord with his contemptible treatment of Blair. But we need not go so far back to find companion pictures of his littleness. What prompted him to send Hancock to Dakota, and Thomas to California? These men during the war refused to join the Sher man-Grant Mutual Admiration Society, and hence their punishment.

It is known how to remedy in a measure these drawbacks. It is done in different parts of the country by the best farmers, and somewhat in a different way, though the general treatment is much the same. All, or nearly all, believe in sod as the basis for corn. If manured, all the better, even if quite rich, for corn will stand great wealth of soil. Indeed, few grains, if any, will bear more, if as

The sod and manure form a bed, and a rich, warm and mellow bed, for the roots of the corn; and here they will luxurinte and thrive so as nothing else it seems will do it. This is true experience, and it is reason.

If the soil below is porous, not leachy, so that water passes off readily, and the warm rains are taken into the soil, charging with their fertility and influence the ground below the sward (and of course above it,) and passing off when no more needed, minus the am nia, etc.-wyat will hinder in such case a good growth, even if much rain or drouth pre-vails? The soil breathes and acts, and disposes of surplus water, and retains a sufficient moisture; this not absolutely equal with a good year but to a much greater extent than in a hard, dry, or wet, poor soil. Here a crop would be a comparative failure, while in a good year it might be remunerative. With the soil thoroughly prepared as we have stat-ed, there is no such change, or in a much less degree. This is commonly known, and advantage taken of it; hence we find our best corn on our drained, sod-turned soil.

The point of dispute seems to be whether we shall plow in the fall or in the spring. This may operate differently in different sections, though we feel inclined to believe there is not much difference, and what there is in in favor of spring plowing. This is our opinion, growing wholly out of our experience. The mellow soil of the fall plowing would seem to be the best, the frost having acted upon it, and the sod being the more thoroughly rotted; but this does not hold, or at least not with us. We find the soil sufficiently rellow in spring plowing for a good seed bed. If not, and the ground is too moist, or the season unfavorable, we defer the plowing; we do this rather than spoil the land, which can not be avoided if turned up wet. We now have reference more particularly to a stiff clay, and would not besitate to apply it mex-treme cases to any soil as the clay in all soils treme cases to any soil, as the clay in all soils thus treated must more or less suffer. We think we have seen this effect with a dark side and naturally dry at that. Its fertility did not avail it. Be this as it may, we are convinced that a clay soil turned up wet, with the sun immediately upon it, will not only make it unfit for planting (the soil be-ing harsh and lumpy,) but hurt it for years. This has been expressed frequently before. We have repeated it as a matter too much But the soil plowed when dry (there is no danger in getting it too dry at this season of the year, and sod at that,) will come up melsandy loam, where the land was harrowed soon after a rain, the ground being on a hill-may be the only way to secure it in season. We therefore are particular to attend to our corn ground, and see that we get it ready in The soil when brought up dry will be loose, porous somewhat, the sward roots holding it raw, unless plowed deep. In this case it may or may not be mellow, depending upon the nature of the subsoil. Drift will make it mealy, ashen even, as we have known; clay

low. This at least seems to be the case gen-erally. And the earlier it can be plowed the better—the mellower it will be. Besides, it is so evident that no one will attempt it The upper, that is the tilled part of the soil, which has been frequently thrown to the light and acted upon by the elements, is not a raw soil, and if not abused will be in a good condition for a seed bed. Besides, sliced and thrown up as this soil is there is not that compact state as with the fall plowing. Air circulates here, and water passes off more readily. This is, we think, a decided ad-

Another is, in our opinion, the effect of the process of the decomposition of the sod, generating heat and evolving gases which will at once be taken up by the plant, so that there is heat below and above, and at the time when the plant most needs it, soon after it is started. The soil is more porous, more dry, when thrown up in the spring, except on ly the immediate surface, which is more fine divided than in spring plowing, but this is f little consequence after the plant is estab

Besides, spring plowing is discouraging to weeds. There will always be more or less grass with fall plowing. This certainly is unfavorable; for, of all the grains, corn seems to be the most affected by grass. Where there is quack, of all things, it wil not to do plow in the fall. Where the soil is very rich and deep and the weeds and grasses are scru-pulously kept down, the surface mellow, and the depth porous as in alluvial deposit, there will be success; we have known it to be almost of the highest order. But generally the grass and weeds are a great hindrance, and almost a roinous one if not kept down. in this respect then, of grass and weeds, spring plowing has the advantage.

Besides, the fermentation of the sod at the time the crop needs it, when well started, is of importance. This is our opinion only. Fall plowing has not this to favor the corn with, as the process is gone through with be fore the corn requires it, beginning in the PROTECTION OF TREES FROM MICE. - Eds. Co. Gent.-In your issue of Jan. 7th I notice some excellent suggestions relative to the protection of trees in winter from the de-predations of mice. But the plan there de-scribed is not a perfect preventive. In the autumn of 1867 I tried substantially the same autumn of 1867 I tried substantially the same plan, using sheet-iron sapepouts—two to each tree—placing the concave sides to, and on opposite sides of the trees, and holding them in place by fine annealed wire. The snow lay at considerable depth, and of course drew the frost from the ground, when the rascals berrowed under the ground in a few instances, and gnawed the roots off and the trees fell over. In other places they mounted to the top of snow drifts and girdled a section six inches long, two feet from the surface of the ground. I suppose the gnawing of the roots might have been prevented by throwing up a mound of soil around the trees and treading it down firmly around the trunks; and the higher the banks are made, the less likely will the snow be to cover the tops of the prosectors.

corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or naes.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it show-its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulccations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. St. Anthony's Five, Rose or Evystpelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scalt Head, Rhigtcorm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other cruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease.
